Maritime Athletics will be volunteering with BronxWorks, a local human service organization and settlement house based in the Bronx, once a month for the 2018-19 season. For the month of October, the men's basketball team hosted a clinic in partnership with BronxWorks for many local children.

"It was a great experience for our team to host this event and spend time playing basketball with the kids," said head coach Mike Berkun. "Everybody involved had a lot of fun and we look forward to doing it again."

The Privateers taught some skills, and played different games with children involved to help grow their love of the sport. The day was capped off with good food and some more team games.

BronxWorks has been serving in the area since 1972 and the Privateers are excited about their partnership them and are looking to forward to all of the future projects coming in the 2018-19 season.
